Stylex Reveals Underline, New Versatile Seating Collection by LucidiPevere

The Underline Family of Products Balances Functionality, Simplicity, and Emotion

(June 2022 - Delanco, NJ) - As commercial spaces continue to evolve, contract furnishings expert Stylex launches its latest seating collection Underline, a family of stools, guest, and task chairs designed by LucidiPevere with versatility in mind.

Creators Paolo Lucidi and Luca Pevere envisioned their multi-purpose seating solution as a tool: one that could be adapted for function yet still visually unite all parts of an office, hospitality, or educational environment. Not only does Underline's classic and subdued style allow for seamless application in a variety of commercial settings, but the collection also provides endless possibilities for mixing and matching models, base types, colors, finishes, and materials – giving designers the flexibility they need with the aesthetic they seek.

“In the contract market, it's vital to design a tool and a system, not just a single, rigid object. You have to consider what an interior designer could create with your piece,” says designer Paolo Lucidi of LucidiPevere.

Taking versatility one step further, each piece in the collection visually connects one to another, sharing the same upholstered shell and metal undercarriage with juxtaposing colors and materials. True to its name, Underline's frame elegantly traces the outline of the seat, enhancing the play between the frame finish and upholstery. Yet the appeal of Underline goes beyond the cohesiveness of the collection itself. Each piece is designed to magnetize its environment, enhancing and underlining the beauty of an overall setting. From dining areas to conference rooms to executive offices, the purposefully customizable design implemented by LucidiPevere allows each piece to be conscious of its surroundings, working with a variety of design schemes.

Underline may be specified in a wide range of upholsteries, and looks can range from quietly monochromatic to brightly patterned. Chairs may be made with or without arms, available with a metal sled, a metal or wood four-leg base, and a five-blade base. Low back counter and bar stools may be specified with or without swivel, available with a metal sled, metal four-leg base, swivel wood base, and swivel pedestal. Finish options include 26 colorful VOC-free powder coats, polished aluminum, chrome, white oak, maple, walnut, and opaque black.

"We like to design timeless products—ones that are simple and quiet, but still have emotion. We also try to express materials authentically, showing them rather than covering them up," says designer Luca Pevere of LucidiPevere.

With this approach, the LucidiPevere design pair was able to achieve a rare balance of functionality, simplicity, and emotion. Thus, the versatility of the Underline collection allows for designers to authentically express their individual design voice, while the understated beauty of the collection ensures that each piece will fit harmoniously into nearly any space.

Crafted in the U.S. with special consideration for the environment, Underline is Greenguard IAQ and Level® 1 certified and available in CET, making it easy to specify. Additional sustainability features include Cove's VOC-free powder coat finishes, water-based adhesives, and rigid, plant-based polyurethane molded foam. The chair's aluminum bases and sled frame model steel tube bases are also made of recycled material. As with all Stylex products, the Underline family of seating is backed by a 10-year performance warranty.

ABOUT LUCIDIPEVERE

Paolo Lucidi and Luca Pevere move fluidly between design fields, reinterpreting materials and technologies and applying them in unexpected ways. “You have to innovate and say something interesting,” says Lucidi of what comprises a successful piece. Based in Milan, LucidiPevere design lighting, furniture, ceramics, textiles, and small home goods, with each partner presenting to the client his own response to the brief. The pair then collaborate on the winning proposal, refining it until it reaches fruition. Explains Pevere of the approach: “When you work for eight hours on the curve of a shell, you can’t tell the right direction. That’s when having two people helps you make the best decision.”
